Brother Joseph) and a view of the last resting place of the once well-known "Bill" Ragsdale. Mr.
Warwick Hunt, nephew of British Commissioner Hawes and a special guest of President Smith, went with the BULLETIN correspondent across the perilous road that leads to the wilds of the Waikolu valley.
En route the spot was shown where, less than half an hour in time, the then young Thurston escaped being gathered to his fathers. The votive stones, to which it is said the ex-Queen Liliuokalani had contributed, which natives place in clefs to propitiate the deity of the precipices and prevent an unlucky contact with falling rocks. Last but not least the clear, cool, dashing Waikolu river with the long vista of greenery that lines the sides of its 4000 feet precipices and the well-cultivated taro patches which border the banks. The various groups again met together at 2 p. m., at the bountiful spread which was placed at their disposal in the Visitors' Home at Kalaupapa.

A PLEASANT PERFORMANCE.

The lunch had been ended, cigars were being smoked when a call from President Smith brought the members of the Settlement band to the front. It was noticed that in their hands were new instruments which Professor Berger had been instructing them in the use of and the first air on which had the honor of being the Hawaiian yodel "Wai-luku." President Smith now invited Captain Cochrane to the front introduced him to the boys as the very active agent in obtaining the assistance of the people of Honolulu to contribute towards the purchasing of the instruments. Captain Cochrane said:

"Some months ago I was here in this country on a vessel of war, the U. S. S. Philadelphia, but I did not then know how I could be of any use to you. The man-of-war Philadelphia went to San Francisco and remained there several months and then came back to Honolulu. In March last I saw in the papers a notice that the band here at the Settlement needed new instruments.
I waited several days then I went to the office of the Advertiser and asked if they had obtained any answers to their call. I was told that they had about $20. I said we must try to do something to get more. And I said, if you print the tickets and advertise the matter we will have some illustrated lectures. They agreed. I then spoke to President Dole for the use of the drill shed, and to Professor Berger for assistance of band.
They agreed. I asked Mrs. Dole for help and President Smith for approval and they said, yes. And everybody I asked said, yes. So you see you have a good many friends in Honolulu. Well, I kept on asking; I asked for the Philadelphia band, the cadets of the Kamehameha school, the young men of the Young Hawaiians' Institute, and they all helped; well, we had the lectures, had many beautiful pictures from all parts of the world, did not forget Molokai, showed Kalaupapa and Kalawao and also the Band (laughter and applause.) From what people saw the band had poor instruments, some of the brass instruments were all mashed up, the bass drum had a hole in it, (laughter.) All said you must have new instruments.
Young ladies on Nuuanu street sold $100 worth of tickets and Mr.
Smith's daughter helped sell tickets and we got money and more money; more than we wanted for instruments, so we intend to buy other things that you need, also something for Beretania Hall and Y. M. C. A. Hall. I hope that you will take good care of these instruments. The Board of Health and the citizens of Honolulu take a great deal of interest in this Settlement. I notice that the Settlement is much improved, the houses look cleaner, the people better. I hope that bye and bye the doctors will find some medicine that will make everybody well, (applause.) These instruments were sent to you from friends in Honolulu, and they will be grateful to know that you appreciate their kindness by taking good care of them. I wish you all aloha." (Cheers.)

Assistant Superintendent Hutchinson responded for the members of the Band and promised that the best of care would be taken of the instruments. "To-day we see for sure that we have friends in Honolulu, we did not know this before.
We are surprised to see before us a man with a different skin to ours, and who belongs to another nation, but who is helping us in our wants.
For the whole Settlement I tender you and all an aloha and hope God will help you all to prosperity." The band then struck up "Aloha Oe," followed soon after by the "Skirt Dance" and the always popular "Wailuku."

PROCLAMATION OF PEACE.

A controversy had been engaged in for sometime back, between different cliques, relative to the right of occupancy of the Y. M. C. A. hall. The battle had waxed hotter until it became necessary for the trustees of the institution, the Hawaiian Board, to interfere in an effort to quiet the disturbance and to this end Mr. W. W. Hall, accompanied by Mr. Smith, visited the hall and had a plain open pow-wow with all parties, in open meeting, and succeeded in restoring harmony, for the time being at least.
Before leaving the hall, Rev. Mr.
Birnie addressed an audience of such people as he never did before, but his words were earnest and feelingly delivered, Mr. Hall acting as interpreter. While the Y.
M. C. A. talk was on, Deputy Sherriff Hitchcock showed his superior officer to the jail, on arrival they could not get in, the jailor being inside, locked in, and his wife away with the keys. Deputy Hitchcock climbed on the outer side of the wall and finding a prisoner within, who knew where the jailor's wife was, permitted him to escape over the wall, get the keys and let them in. The jail contains eight cells and has about sixteen prisoners at present. It is neat, airy and clean.

HOME AGAIN.

The last good-byes were said, the poor band boys showed that they were weary, and everybody seemed willing to take a rest from the day's labors when the order was given to re-embark on the saucy, but slow Lehua. All reached the floating home safely, amongst the added passengers for Honolulu being Sister Superior Marianne and Rev.
Kealoha and wife. Mr. C. A.
Brown remained behind intending to stay a week with Mr. Meyer at Kalae. At 5:40 the Lehua was underway for Honolulu and the faces of the passengers presented a pleased expression as they viewed the new moon over their left shoulders and blessed the good luck of a well filled sail and a flowing sea, which gave promise of a less than an 11 hours run for home. En voyage, the officials on being interviewed, expressed themselves as well satisfied with the conduct of affairs and the steady improvement shown since their last visit and even to a stranger the view of the Kalaupapa of to-day would present, from the sea, only a pleasant prospect of the sealed village occupied by the Wards of the Nation. The Lehua arrived back in port here at midnight exactly on Saturday, making the home run in 6 hours 20 minutes.
